FAREWELL TO THE OLD CITY

MATOR STRONG'S SUGGESTIONS AP. J. P. MORGAN & CO. TO FINANCE THE COM-PROVED BY WELL-KNOWN CITIZENS.

A MASS-MEETING TO BE HELD AND ADDRESSES TO BE MADE-A COMMITTEE OF SEVEN AP-

POINTED TO CARRY OUT THE SENTI

At the invitation of Mayor Strong, about forty prominent citizens of New-York met at Delmonico's est evening to formulate plans for the celebration of the passing of old New-York and its merging with the enlarged city. Some of those present seemed to have gathered the idea that the celebracontemplated was to be held in honor of the birth of the Greater New-York, but they were in The discussion of the subject developed the fact that most of those present were favorably impressed by Mayor Strong's suggestion that the celebration take the form of a mass-meeting in the Metropolitan Opera House or Madison Square Garden, to be addressed in a eulogistically orical vein by three orators, while patriotic music should be furnished by some of the musical so-clettes of the city or by a chorus of school children. After the meeting adjourned it was learned that After the meeting adjoint House and Madison both the Metropolitan Opera House and Madison Square Garden are engaged for New Year's Eve, the former for the fair of the Seton Hospital for Consumptives and the latter for "Grady's French

Those who were present at the meeting were Strong, Commissioners George Moore Smith, Waring, O'Brien, McMillan, Ely, Hubbell, Plimley and Collis: John Jeroloman, C. C. Reaman, C. Shayne, W. F. King, John A. King, Chauncey Magistrate Job E. Hedges, Controlle M. Depew, diskistrate sor E. Reuges, Controller Fitch, Archbishop Corrigan, Chancellor Mac-Cracken, the Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, Corporation Counsel Scott, W. J. Arkell, Dr. Stephen Smith, Dr. Thomas Hunter, Thomas F. Gilroy, General Henry L. Burnett, P. Bradlee Strong, Magistrate Thomas F. Wentworth, Recorder Goff, Justice William C. Holbrook, W. M. Massey, J. A. Sleicher, Robert C. Alexander, Frank R. Lawrence, Darwin R. James, J. Seaver Page, Cole nel William 1. Brown, Salem H. Wales and J. Edward Sim-

Mayor Strong called the meeting together and outlined its purpose, giving as his suggestion that the celebration of the passing of old New-York should take the form of a mass-meeting. There be, perhaps, three speeches, the Mayor ought, historical in character and describing the career of the city. The proceedings of the meeting might be published in the form of a memorial volume that would fittingly preserve them. The Mayor then nominated J. Edward Simmons as chairman of the meeting, and he was elected. W. F. King was chosen secretary, and the chairman then called upon the men present for their sug-gestions. Smith Ely commended the Mayor's sug-gestion throughout. Thomas F. Gilroy said he thought the celebration was to be of the birth of the Greater New-York, and he deprecated any fu-nereal proceedings. Mr. Depew thought the birth of the enlarged city had just been sufficiently celebrated, and that historic New-York deserved some commemoration. He approved the Mayor's plan commemoration. He approved the Mayor's plan and outlined it more in detail, referring to the succession of Mayors, from Peter Stuyvesant to Mr. Strong, who, he sald, were equally obstinate, honest, wrong-headed and right-minded. He suggested that the celebration be held on New Year's Eve, and that as the clock struck 12 the Mayors of New-York and Brooklyn John hands.

W. J. Arkell, publisher of "Judge," suggested playfully that there could be both a funeral oration, on the one hand, and a celebration by Platt. Gilroy and Croker on the other. He would be glad to publish the minutes. Darwin R. James, Corporation Counsel Scott, J. Seaver Page, John A. King, Colonel W. L. Brown, Chancellor MacCracken, Controller Fitch, Dr. Hunter, Archbishop Corrigan, Salem H. Wales and Dr. Duffield spoke briefly, favoring the plan. Colonel Waring predicted a time when the population of New-York would be 27,000,000, and when compressed air would carry people to Montauk Point in seven minutes. Commissioner Collis though the was less interested in the celebration than anybody eise, because, whether New-York lived or died, he would never be forgotten.

Frank R. Lawrence suggested that the celebra-

Frank R. Lawrence suggested that the celebra-tion be made the inception of a movement to com-memorate the history of old New-York by some such memorial as the Washington Arch, and Com-missioner Hubbell thought it might be well for a chorus of a thousand school children to sing patri-otic airs at the mass-meeting.

When the discussion was ended the chairman was empowered to appoint a committee of seven, with Mayor Strong as chairman, to carry out the senti-ment of the meeting, with power to add to its num-bers. The committee was appointed, as follows: Mayor Strong, Chauncey M. Depew, Controller Fisch, Saiem H. Wales, Judge Joseph F. Daly, Cor-poration Counsel Scott and W. F. King.

FOR A CELEBRATION ON CHARTER DAY The plan of Mayor Strong to give the old city of with the celebration of the birth of Greater New-York, which was conceived over a year and a half ago, and received the approval of ex-City Controller Andrew H. Green, "the father of Greater New-York," to whom the matter was presented by New-York, to whom the matter was presented by gx-Senator Thomas J. Creamer. Several leading citizens who have been quietly outlining plans will shortly issue a call for a preliminary meeting to consider further steps, including organization. Mayor-elect Van Wyck approves of the plan. The celebration is to begin on "Charter Day." Thursday, May 5, and to continue for three days. It will be both civic and military, and representative, so as to interest and engross the attention of the people of the Greater New-York, and it is to be of a magnitude calculated to attract visitors from every part of the United States.

PLATT'S WORK IN WESTCHESTER.

JUDGE MARTIN'S DECISION SUSTAINING HIS CAN DIDATE EASILY EXPLICABLE.

To the Editor of The Tribune

Sir: I read with interest the exposure in your paper of the attempt of the Platt political machine to force upon the Republicans of Westchester County a bolting Platt Republican by the name of Ben L. Fairchild as a candidate for Congress against the regularly nominated candidate, William L. Ward, and I have read with equal interest the opinion of Judge Celora E. Martin, of the Court of Appeals, up holding this attempt, which you also published.

It is entirely in keeping with the operations of the Platt machinery that this opinion should have been written by Judge Martin, as it was that Benjamin F. Tracy should make the argument, for Judge Martin is as much indebted to the Platt machinery for his place in the Court of Appeals as Mr. Tracy was indebted to the Platt machinery for his employment to make the argument, or for his nomination as Platt's candidate for Mayor of Greater New-York. Platt and Tracy are from Tioga County, and Judge Martin is from the adjoining county of Broome.

The repudiation of the Platt machinery and Plattism was even more emphatic in West-chester than in New-York at the recent election; for in Westchester the regular Republican candidate, William L. Ward, received 30,709 votes, and the boiting Platt and Martin candidate got only 770 votes.

Judge Martin, and the members of the Court who supported him in his plan to force a bolting Platt candidate on the Republicans of Westchester, must have felt proud of this effort to uphold the corrupt machinery of a corrupt boss!

The city of Binghamton, with a Republican majority of over one thousand, has just repudiated a Platt Mayor by over five hundred majority.

How long, O Lord, will this wicked Platt machinery and Plattism—a power obtained and held by bribery and fraud—be permitted to curse the State of New-York? Not long, I trust, as he handwriting is already upon the wall.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Cincinnati, Dec. 8.—A Dayton dispatch to "The Times-Star" says that Charles Middlestetter, nine-teen years old, was either murdered or committed suicide last night. His dead body was found on the roadside near his wheel. A builet hole was in his head and a revolver was lying near by. He had started at 4 o'clock to visit his sister, at Bell-brook, and was found near his journey's end. There is no cause known for suicide.

Gem. Idaho, Dec. 2.—An explosion in the Helena-Prisco mine yesterday instantly killed Joseph McNamara, and Joseph C. Bowes. McNamara was a native of New-York State, but nothing is known of his relatives.

Zanesville, Ohio, Dec. 9.—The Zanesville Street Railway and Electric Company went into the hands of William Christle, as receiver, yesterday. The honded indebtedness is $200,000, and the floating debt $75,000.

Boston, Dec. 3.—The West End Street Railway stockholders to-day considered the lease of the West End properties to the Boston Elevated Railway Company for twenty-five years at a rental equal to 7 per cent dividends on the common stock, ratifying it by a vote of 199,652 to 2,874 shares.

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—A company has been incorporated in this city with a capital of $100,000 for the manufacture of enamel signs and the ornamentation of any metal with an enamel surface. The plant will be located in North St. Louis, and is expected to be in operation by January 1. Work will start with thirty-five skilled mechanics.

A WIRE TRUST ASSURED.

BINATION.

It is now practically assured that a consolidation of the wire and wire nail industry of the country will be accomplished. Since the return of J. Pierpont Morgan from Europe there has been more or less gos-sip about his taking hold and perfecting the new combination, and a number of men prominent in that industry have come to New-York to see him and talk over the situation. They are making their headquarters at the Walderf-Asteria, some of the manufacturers who have registered there within the last day or two being Philip W. Moen and William E. Rice, of the Washburn & Moen Manufacturing Company, Worcester, Mass., and their counsel, Rockwood Hoar, of the same city; John W.Gates, of Chicago; Henry W. Oliver and George T. Oliver, of Pittsburg; W. A. Roebling and F. W. Reebling, of Trenton; D. R. Wolff and Alfred Clifford, of St. Louis; H. H. and William Chisholm, of Cleveland; Messrs. Garver and Buffington, of diana, and I. L. Ellwood, of De Kalb, Ill.

A conference, which was attended by most of these men, was held at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday. Henry W. Oliver, who may become the president of the projected combination, was seen last evening at the Waldorf-Astoria. He said that it was, of course, quite out of the question for him to make public what had been done at the meeting. The meeting, he continued, had got through its work, and there would be no more meetings, of a time at least. Mr. Oliver was asked if he could give an approximate date when all the negotiations would probably be completed and the new corporation formally launched. He smiled, and said: "When that is done the press will be informed."

The general supposition in the trade seems to be that the usual arrangements for forming a complete trust will be agreed on, a new corporation being formed, which will either give its own stock in payment for the stock of existing companies, or eise buy them outright for cash.

Definite information in Wall Street yesterday was that J. P. Morgan & Co. were to finance the Wire Trust. these men, was held at the Waldorf-Astoria yes-

> STANDS OUT AGAINST THE TRUST.

There is a rumor affoat that the three great biscuit companies have combined to protect their own interests, after fighting each other for some time. The companies are the New-York Biscuit Company. the American Biscuit and Manufacturing Company and the United States Biscuit Company. J. D. Gilmor, who is actively engaged in forming an organization of the milk dealers, is said to be forming this combination. When seen at his place of business, No. 203 Greenwich-st, yesterday, he re-fused either to affirm or to deny such a statement. saying that he was too busy to talk about such matters.

The new combination is said to have $30,000,000 capital, and to be backed by Philip D. Armour, the Pullman estate and other capitalists. Among those cracker concerns that have recently become identi-fied with the combine are Kennedy, of Boston; fled with the combine are Kenney, below the Holmes & Courts, of New-York; Larrabee & Co., of Albany; Boss & Son, of New-London; Mason & Co., of Baitimore, and Bent & Co., of Mitton, Mass. Efforts are now being made to bring Harris & Holmes and Howe & Hutton into the organization, but both of these firms say that the negotiations are not yet complete, and refuse to give any information.

S. B. Clark, of No. 496 Grand-st., a large cracker baker, is standing out against the combine, and he said yesterday: "The combine has been after me for some time, but I prefer to stay out, On December 1 they made a cut of 25 per cent in prices, but I paid no attention to it, and went right ahead with my business at the old prices. Then they made offers to buy me out, which I have no idea of accepting. They offered me $1,20,000 for my plant, but I will not enter the combination."

THE BLACKMAIL EXAMINATION.

The examination of William B. Turnbull and William Elford Gould, for an alleged attempt to blackmail Señor Eugenia de Farra, which was begun on Tuesday, was continued before Magistrate Meade in the Centre Street Police Court yester-

Mrs. Julia Hill, Turnbull's mother-in-law, was the principal witness. She corroborated her son-in-law's testimony in many details. She swore she heard Gould remark on one occasion, in the course of a conversation with Turnbull, that "De Farra was badly scared" and would give a large sum. She then swore that she was told to leave the room

She then swore that she was told to leave the room by both Gould and Turnbull. At the door she listened, she said, and overheard Gould tell turn-bull to accept $2,250, because he did not want to jeopardize the prospect of getting appointed as De Farra's secretary. Vernon M. Davis, counsel for Gould, made a mo-tion for his client's discharge. This motion was denied by Magistrate Meade, who announced that he would give his final decision on December 28. In the mean time briefs will be submitted.

FALL RIVER'S WAGE REDUCTION.

Fall River, Mass., Dec. 9.-Everybody is waiting for the presentation of the new schedule of wages which the mill men's committee has authority to own which the min men's committee has authority to put into effect. The general belief is that the cut-down will be about il per cent, though this cannot be definitely stated. During the present depression there has been some talk of cutting down the as this is a matter for individual boards of directors and not for the Manufacturers' Association, it is not yet known whether the step will be taken. Business men complain to-day that the decision of the mill men yesterday will have a baneful effect on the holiday trade. A cut-down of ill per cent would mean a reduction of about $20,000 a week to the operatives in this city.

Manchester, N. H., Dec. 5.—Herman F. Straw,

Manchester, N. H., Dec. — eleminary of the Amoskeag Corporation, said to-day that the cut-down in cotton-mill wages in Fall River would not be followed in this city, and it was not probable that Fall River's example would be followed in other New-England mill towns.

BIG RUSH TO THE KLONDIKE EXPECTED. Denver, Dec. 8.—John Francis, general passenger agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, stopped over in Denver on his way home from the Pacific coast. "There is going to be a big rush of travel to Alaska when the season opens," said he.
"People are preparing to go from every State in "People are preparing to go from every State in the Union and from almost every town. There are at least fifty thousand people who will make the trip, and the crowd may reach twice that number. I do not suppose they will all get as far as the Klondike; many will not get beyond Portland. In a rush such as this will be there will always be persons who start out without sufficient preparation and who will have to give up before they get to their destination. The railroads will take care of the crowds without any trouble. All the lines are bidding for the business, and the trip will be made as comfortable as possible. I understand that there will be enough steamers to carry the crowds promptly."

HUNDREDS OF OLD MONEY ORDERS WHICH THE FORMER LIBRARIAN HAD FORGOTTEN TO CASH DISCOVERED-THE AMOUNT

WILL BE REPAID TO HIM. Washington, Dec. 9 .- An investigation now being made by the officials of the Congressional Library and the Postoffice Department, promises to throw a great deal of light on the recent widediscussed shortage of Ainsworth R. Spofford, the former Librarian. An examination by the Treasury Department about a year ago showed Mr. Spofford to be about $30,000 short in his accounts. Few people who knew him looked upon this at the time as anything more than an evidence of clerical negligence in his department. Now it appears that a large part, if not all, of this deficiency, which Mr. Spofford promptly made good out of his own pocket, will be accounted for by a great batch of old money orders which the absent-minded Librarian forgot

The Postoffice Department gets a great many records of money orders from postmasters which are never presented for payment by the persons receiving them. The number of these uncashed orders addressed to the Librarian of Congress is perhaps greater than all the others combined While Mr. Spofford was in office, Mr. Metcalfe, chief of the Money Order Division of the Postoffice Department, would ir form the Librarian that there were orders on hand which he should cash. Sometimes he would get a few in response to these notifications, and sometimes not. Since John Russell Young has been placed in charge of the Library, however, he and Perry S. Heath, the First Assistant Postmaster-General, have made a systematic search of the Library records, and tucked away in one place or another they have uncarthed hundreds of old orders, which the former Librarian had put aside and apparently forgotten, and more are aside and apparently forgotten, and more are coming to light every day.

Just what the total sum will amount to has not yet been estimated, but it probably will come near wiping out the discrepancies in Mr. Spofford's accounts. Some of the orders date back twenty-two years, and one of the largest was for $36. Many of the orders have expired by limitation, but they will all be paid by cash or warrant on the Treasury, and the money will be turned over to Mr. Spofford up to the amount he has paid out in rectifying his own has paid out in rectifying his own

In this confession the prisoner told of his several wives who died within the last few years, all of whom were insured in various amounts, and of the deaths of other persons which proved of financial advantage to him. however, that he was in no instance guilty of murder, and thus far no evidence has been adduced to prove that his contentions in that direction are

HENRY H. ADAMS DEAD.

Henry H. Adams, formerly Treasurer of Kinga County and for many years one of the best-known Democrats in Brooklyn, died from paralysis yeaterday afternoon at his home, in Herkimer-st., corner of Sackman-st., after an illness of several months. It is believed that worry over business reverses and the fact that hanging over him was an indictment for failing to turn over about $80,000 of the county's funds led to his physical breaking down, which came on last August while he was at his summer cottage at Ruffle Bar, on Jamsica Bay. At that time he had a stroke of paralysis, and was brought to his home, in Herkimer-st. It was hoped that he would recover, but a few days ago his condition became so alarming that his family abandoned hope. Yesterday his mind was clear, and he conversed with the members of his family. He was attended by Dr. Henry G. Hodekins.

Mr. Adams was born in Londonderry, Ireland, about fifty-five years ago, and came with his parents lived in Buffaio for a time, and then moved to Brooklyn, making their home in the Twenty-fifth Ward. Young Adams early took to politics, and when a little more than twenty-one years oid ran for Alderman on the Democratic ticket in the Twenty-fifth Ward, and was defeated. He moved to the Twenty-sixth Ward, which was then the old town of New-Lots, and was elected for successive terms. On Thanksgiving night, 1830, Mr. Adams's Deputy Treasurer, Henry Gardiner, died at the dinner table of his chief, and soon thereafter Mr. Adams had experts go over his deputy's accounts. Mr. Gardner had been unsystematic in his hookkeeping, and it was feated by Mr. Adams's friends that his affairs would be found to be tangled, but there was a shock to the community when a shortage of nearly $80,000 was discovered.

The tenth annual dinner of the Union College Alumni Association, of New-York, was held last night at the Savoy Hotel. The Rev. Dr. George Alexander presided, and with him at the head table were the Rev. Dr. Andrew V. V. Raymond, president of the college; St. Clair McKelway, General Daniel Butterfield, Dr. Horace B. Silliman, Professor William Wells and Frederick W. Seward. In the course of the dinner the college quartet sang several of the songs dedicated to the of Old Union. After Dr. Alexander had offered warm greetings to the guests and members, Gen-eral Butterfield spoke to the toast of "The Flag." He frequently raised the enthusiasm of his hearers by his eloquent references to the progress and achievements of the United States since the Stars and Stripes had become the beloved flag of the Dr. Raymond, speaking upon the theme of the

"Alma Mater," dwelt upon the prominent part Union had taken in the development of the Empire State. In 1795, when the college was chartered, the State was sparsely settled, he said, except in the vicinity of the Hudson Valley. Men educated and trained for large usefulness had, however, gone to the towns and villages of Eastern and Northern New-York, and their counsels and influence went far to shape the policy of the State, and their energy had contributed largely to the development of its resources. St. Clair McKelway, in a bright and eloquent address, spoke at some length upon the significance of the name which had been bestowed upon the college. The modern appositeness was as evident as its past felicity, he said. A WARNING TO BRUTAL POLICEMEN.

HOW THE CONVICTION OF PATROLMAN SUL-LIVAN IS REGARDED.

Police omeials and citizens who are opposed to police brutality said yesterday that the conviction of Policeman Owen Sullivan on the charge of beat-ing James Daiton, a prisoner, in a cell of the East One-hundred-and-fourth-st, police station, ought to be a warning to policemen who have been too free with their clubs and pistols recently. It was declared that there ought to be a strict enforcement clared that there ought to be a strict enforcement of the rule that a policeman must not draw his club or pistol against any person except when he is in danger of bodily injury, or to prevent the escape of a felon. There have been several cases recently which have indicated a disposition on the part of policemen to club or shoot innocent persons without excuse of any sort.

HIS PHYSICIAN SAYS THERE IS NO HOPE

FOR HIS RECOVERY. Judge Asa W. Tenney of the United States District Court, Brooklyn, was reported to be dying at 12 o'clock last night by his family physician. Dr. J. E. Richardson. While surrounded by his family and several intimate friends at 11 o'clock last night. the Judge became unconscious. Dr. Richardson then held a consultation with Dr. John A. Mc-Corkle, after which he issued a bulletin to the effect that there was no hope for the Judge's recovery. Dr. Richardson said that the cause of the illness of the Judge was an acute attack of indigesness of the Judge was an acute attack of indiges-tion induced by a most aggravated form of dia-betes, which was due to overwork.

A large number of persons living in Brooklyn and New-York called at the house yesterday to in-quire about the condition of the patient. Early in the day there was hope that the Judge would re-cover, as he was much brighter and stronger.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES METTAM. The death of Charles Mettam, at his home, in Bayonne, N. J., on Sunday last, removes one of New-York's oldest architects and one well known both as an architect and a civil engineer. Mr. Mettam was born in Dublin, Ireland, in May, 1819. He was educated in his native city, and after practising his profession there and in England came to New-York with his wife and family in 1848. Among the numerous buildings erected by him in this city are the New-York Historical Society Building, the Eye and Ear Infirmary, in Second-ave.; the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the new Packard's College, at Fourth-ave. and Twenty-third-st; the Brandreth House, a notable hotel in its day, and the Gilsey Buildings, now called the Benedict Buildings, on Broadway.

Mr. Mettam occupied offices in the People's Bank Building, No. 295 Canal-st., for the last thirty-three years, and was at his office daily up to November 16, when he was taken ill. He belonged to the 12th New-York Militia. He went to Washington in April, 1861, to report for service, but the officials of the War Department, being cognizant of his ability as a civil engineer, sent for him and succeeded in persuading him that he would do greater sermusket. He served under General Delafield in musket. He served under General Delafield in constructing the fortifications of New-York Harbor, and that officer frequently expressed the high esteem in which he held his services.

In 1854, when the subject of rapid transit was being discussed, Mr. Mettam was the first to propose, in "The Scientific American," an elevated structure on posts in the street, similar to the present road. He was the author of many patents relating to the building trade, notably the rolling iron shutter. Of his family of thireen children only three sons survive him. His wife died many years ago. Mr. Mettam was a member of the Old Guard Association of the 12th Regiment and of the New-York Historical Society.

Resolutions adopted at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Continental Insurance Company, December 9, 1801;

Henry A. Hurlbut.—Since the last meeting of this Board we have been deprived by death of cur late associate, Henry A. Hurlbut, for many years, and until his voluntary retirement, a Director of this Company.

He died full of honors, and, although his life was prolonged far beyond the altotted age of man, he enjoyed to the last the use of all his faculties and his natural force was unabated. He was a man or signal ability and business sagacity, remarkably successful in the accumulation of wealth, but generous in its uses, and he enjoyed throughout his life the confidence of all with whom he had dealines.

He was, at the time of his death, the largest individual holder of the capital stock of the company, and by this evidence of his faith did much to inspire in the community in which he was so well known confidence in its stability.

It is fitting that the Minutes of the Company should nity in which he was so well known confidence in its stability.

It is fitting that the Minutes of the Company should bear record of his services and of the esteem in which his memory is held by his associates in this Board; therefore, be it.

Resolved. That in the death of Henry A. Huribut we feel that the Continental Insurance Company has lost a valuable friend and the city an upright citizen; one who was just in all his dealings, faithful to his trusts, diligent in business, true in his friendships and sincere in his faith, an example to younger men in that he helped to demonstrate that energy and fidelity may go hand in hand in the successful pursuit of wealth and happiness.

Resolved, That a copy of this Minute be transmitted to the family of our deceased friend.

EDWARD LANNING, Secretary.

Hurlbut, Henry A.—At a meeting of the Board of

EDWARD LANNING, Secretary

Hurlbut, Henry A.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Second National Bank, heid November 18, 1897, the following minute was adopted:
With feelings of profound sorrow we record the death of our venerable associate and friend, Henry A. Hurlbut, Last Thursday he was present and participated in the actions of this Board, and while at dinner that evening died without a word.
Truly, 'In the midst of life we are in death.'
Mr. Hurlbut was an incorporator of this bank, its first president and a Director continuously throughout his long connection with it. He was one of its most energetic and active directors, earnest and faithful, whose sound advice and convictions largely contributed to tune and wheat the sum of the well spent and mount the loss of a courageous, manly and kind-hearted friend.
